PROLETARIAT DEMANDS JUSTICE

Defending his refusal to present any more cases for trial or disposition before Judge Henry A. King, who has been holding the criminal sessions of the Superior Court, District Attorney Pelletier said today:

"My attention has been called to Judge King's statement published in the morning papers, but I really must decline to enter into controversy with him."

"The public may be interested to know, however, that this is not the first time that Judge King has caused a District Attorney to decline to proceed. The same thing happened in Middlesex County three or four years ago and the bar throughout the State will not be at all surprised at present conditions."

"Nothing personal in this matter so far as I am concerned. My sole idea is to administer the law fairly and to recommend probation whenever, after fullest investigation by the probation officer, it seems advisable so to do."

"The old idea that men tried for offenses against the law are radically bad and should be sent to prison can no longer be enforced in our courts any longer. To Judge a man's character by looking at him twenty feet away is not tolerable and cannot be compared to the personal examination and conversation that we endeavor to have in all cases before the courtroom is reached."

"What our policy has been and what the attitude of the many judges of the Superior Court sitting in our session has been will be best understood when I say that in the disposal of all cases in jail as Judge King was proceeding unless some additional judges were assigned. I regret that Judge King is the only judge in the Superior Court who would make necessary my decision to present no further cases, but prisoners are entitled to some consideration and the suggestions of the District Attorney and his assistants are also entitled to some consideration."

KAISER IN DESPERATE STAND; NEW BATTLE ON

The German main line in Eastern France, which has been at bay north of the Aisne River, is locked in a furious battle with the pursuing allies.

The news of the engagement is confirmed by the French War Office, as shown in a late Paris dispatch.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The following official announcement was issued at 3 o'clock:

"A great battle, in which the Germans have been obliged to keep strictly on the defensive, has been raging all along the front since September 14 (Monday)."

The dispatch added that the battle line is 120 miles long, that 2,500,000 men are engaged, counting reinforcements, and that this conflict, which will probably go down in history as the Battle of the Aisne, may determine the success or failure of the German invasion.

Earlier dispatches had forecasted this engagement. They described the reforming of the retreating German lines and the probable stand north of the Aisne, saying:

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The latest reports from Paris show that the Germans have been able to collect their forces and are at bay against the pursuit of the allies within the frontiers of France. The line of this rally follows in the main that of the rivers Aisne and Sappe from the forests to the north of Compiègne to Vienne la Ville, a small town half way up the western slope of the Argonne hills. This line seems to be intact throughout its length. Its left flank is linked to the army that has become known as the army of the Crown Prince.

By a practicable road through Argonne the Crown Prince's army has extricated itself from dangerous position.

Some days ago it was attempting to battle its way through the fortified line of the French frontier between

Russia to Throw $300,000,000 Trade to United States

PETROGRAD, Sept. 16.—Sergei Sazonov, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared today that as a result of the war the great markets of Russia would be thrown open to England and America.

"For America especially," he said, "does Russia open opportunities for an industrial outlet such as can hardly be overestimated. We have an empire of 170,000,000 souls and the $300,000,000 we have been paying yearly to Germany is but the beginning of a demand that soon will make Russia among the most desirable markets of the world."

"When the war is over there will come a realization of this situation everywhere, and he who would profit by it should take first steps with the least possible delay."

Belgian Commission Calls on Wilson

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—The Belgian National Commission to the United States, organized by King Albert to protest to the American people of alleged German brutality and German violation of Belgian neutrality, called on President Wilson this afternoon.

ARMIES ENGAGED ALONG 120-MILE LINE

Verdun and Toul. Fort Troyon, where this effort was made, had suffered heavily from bombardment, but stood firm.

Failed in this attempt, the Crown Prince's army turned to the only other way of retreat that lay open, and made for the gap between Argonne and the River Meuse. Perilous though this adventure was, it succeeded.

A Paris dispatch gives news of fresh troops for the allies.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Having compelled the Germans to evacuate twelve towns by their rapid advance, the allies throw fresh troops to the line today for another assault upon the positions of the invaders north of the Aisne River. In order to give impetus to his attack, General Joffre pushed reinforcements to the front to support the tired French and English soldiers who have been manning and fighting for more than a week.

KAISER TO LEAD ARMY.

Among the extremely interesting war news is a report from a French source that the German Emperor has hurried clear across Germany to stop the Russian Bear's invasion. The correspondent qualifies the information in the following words:

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Parisienne prints what purports to be a dispatch from Berlin saying that Emperor William has gone east to take supreme command against Russia.

London had previously sent out a report that the Crown Prince, who had been in command of the German army retreating toward Luxembourg, had taken command in East Prussia. The interesting question is raised as to just what is back of these striking rumors.

The Japanese War Office at Tokio made official statement today that a Japanese aviator had dropped bombs in the German fortifications at Tsing-Au. The sky cruiser was shelled by German high-angle guns but escaped. The War Office believes several Germans in the fortifications were killed. The report added that Jap torpedo boat destroyers had driven the German harbor patrol to the inner waters of Kiao Chau harbor. Tokio announced later that Japanese troops had attacked Kiao Chau, capturing its railroad station.

Italian sympathy for the allies is increasing, judging from the following report from the Italian capital:

ROME, Sept. 16.—Strong manifestation of sympathy for the allies is being shown here by followers of the "war group," a clique of political leaders who favor war against Austria and Germany. King Victor Emmanuel is continually urging calmness. If Italy avoids war it will be due to the King's efforts. It is more and more evident that the government will be most unpopular if it tries to aid Germany and Austria.

Seasonal report comes from Antwerp that contractors' graft caused the downfall of Liege and Namur fortifications, not the power of the Krupp siege guns. The Belgian government, which has been making an investigation, is reported to have found that the battlement materials were far below specifications and that millions of dollars went into the pockets of contractors and dishonest government officials.

NAVAL BATTLE IN BALTIC.

The Kaiser's Baltic fleet, which was reported a few days ago as patrolling near the entrances of the Gulf of Finland and the Gulf of Bothnia, came suddenly into war dispatches again in the following delayed dispatch:

BERLIN via Rome, Sept. 15 (delayed).—A naval battle is in progress in the Baltic. This was officially admitted by the German Admiralty this afternoon. It posted a bulletin stating that fifteen of the twenty-nine units of the Baltic squadron are now in action.

It is believed here that the German Baltic squadron has finally rounded up the Russian fleet and engaged it. For the last week it has been reported that the German Baltic fleet, augmented by battle cruisers from the North Sea fleet, had been cruising in the Baltic, near the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, where the Russian fleet was known to have taken refuge.

The last report received, via Stockholm, stated that the flag of Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the Kaiser, was flying from the flagship of the fleet.

This was believed to indicate that the Germans had determined to risk everything, so far as their strength on the Baltic was concerned, on a dash into the Gulf of Finland in an effort to capture or destroy the Russian fleet so that the way might be opened for an invasion of Russia by the sea.

The Rome Messagero prints a Basel dispatch today, alleging that a complete German evacuation has been ordered, extraordinary as that might seem. The dispatch says:

ROME, Sept. 16.—The Messagero publishes a Basel dispatch saying the Germans have been ordered to evacuate Belgium, France, and Luxembourg and withdraw to the Rhine.

Playful reference to the Austrian arms are elicited in Petrograd, with dispatches from Rome tending to confirm it. The Rome dispatch, following those from Petrograd, said:

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A Rome dispatch says that the Austrian armies under Auffenberg and General Dankl have effected a junction northeast of Jaroslav, separating from a Russian trap with the loss of fully 40 per cent. of the men.

AUSTRIANS LOSE 40,000.

The Petrograd dispatches contain unofficial report that the

Russia Claims to Have Won Greatest Victory in History

PETROGRAD, Sept. 16.—The following official statement was issued today by the War Office:

(OFFICIAL)

General Ruzsky has been unable thus far to send any detailed report of the successful operations in Galicia. The fragmentary details he has given, however, show that our forces have won the greatest victory ever recorded in warfare.

It is practically certain that Archduke Charles Francis is with the routed army of the Austrian army. General Ruzsky will probably crown his great feat with the capture of the heir to the Austrian throne.

The investment of Przemyśl will prevent that strong-becoming the refuge of demoralized Austrians commanded by General Dankl. His forces have been cut off from communication with the Austrian center and are trapped in the bogs into which they hoped to drive the Russians.

Austrians have lost the enormous number of 420,000 men, killed, captured or surrounded. Official statement is quoted thus:

PETROGRAD, Sept. 16.—The following official statement was issued today:

"General Ruzsky has been unable thus far to send any detailed report of the successful operations in Galicia. The fragmentary details he has given, however, show that our forces have won the greatest victory ever recorded in warfare."

Night dispatches which reported from Nish, Serbia, that the Serbs were besieging Vihegrad, forty miles southeast of Sarajevo in Bosnia, were followed today by official announcement that Vihegrad has been taken. The story of the capture is briefly told in the following:

NISH, Sept. 16.—The capture of Vihegrad, Bosnia, by Serbian troops is officially announced here. The War Office stated today that the Serbian army that took Vihegrad and the Montenegro which captured Vojcha have effected a junction and are marching on Sarajevo, despite determined resistance by the Austrians.

While Nish was claiming successes for the Serbian campaign in Bosnia, Vienna was announcing Serbian reverses to the Serb army of invasion to the north in Austria-Hungary, as well as general Austrian successes. A Vienna correspondent wires:

VIENNA, via Berlin and Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—Official announcement was made today that the Serbian army which invaded Austria-Hungary along the River Save has been defeated at all points and driven back to its own territory.

"The situation is favorable to the Austrian success against the enemy everywhere," said General Hofer, a member of the general staff.

Kaiser Lauds His Son Oscar On the Field After Battle

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—Emperor William is taking an active part in directing the operations of the German army in France, according to reports received here today. After the battle of Witten, near Louvain, he visited his son, Prince Oscar, commander of the division which had acquired themselves with honor in the conflict.

After greeting his son the Emperor addressed the Guards in the public square. His address was published here today. He said:

I greet you as chief and thank you. I have often seen your regiment at maneuvers and on parade, but it is a particular pleasure to greet you on a conquered land.

The regiment fought as I expected, and you did your duty before. The battle will be eternally inscribed with letters of gold in the history of the war.

Our comrades the eastern army have also fought gallantly. The army under the Grand Duke of Wurttemberg have advanced victoriously. Our enemies are withdrawing.

The eastern army has driven three Russian corps over the frontier. Two Russian corps capitulated in the open field. Sixty thousand men and two generals were made prisoners.

For all these victories we have to thank only one. That is our God who is over us.

U. S. TROOPS TO LEAVE MEXICO ABOUT OCT. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—After an occupation of five months, at an approximate cost of $1,000,000 a month, the American forces at Vera Cruz will leave Mexico about October 1, Secretary of War Garrison announced today. On account of the disturbed condition of Northern Mexico, troops will be kept along the Texas border for the time being. Troops from Vera Cruz will be distributed among the various posts on the border and it is possible that some of the regiments, which have had the longest tour of duty there, will be permitted to return north.

Say German Ships Get Coal at Manila

MANILA, Sept. 16.—Orders were received here today from Washington for a full and complete investigation of vessels getting coal here in violation of the neutrality laws. It is understood that the order came after agents in Manila had made representations on the subject. German warships are said to have been supplied with fuel from here.

GERMANS CLAIM ALLIES' ADVANCE IS CHECKED

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Sept. 16.—The following official statement was issued here today:

OFFICIAL.
The offensive movement of the allied British and French armies in France has been checked. We have won a number of successes and have occupied strong positions. Fighting continues, but no engagement has taken place.

The enemy has been attacking with superior numbers for two days our right wing. A severe conflict has marked the operations about Verdun.

The Admiralty announced today that all the crew of the cruiser Hela, which was sunk by a British submarine, had been saved. An earlier report from Admiral Bencke indicated that there had been some loss of life.

Japanese Melba Escapes Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Madame Tamaki Melba, the Japanese Melba, has escaped from Germany, according to advice received at the Japanese Embassy here today. Mme. Melba, who is the premier of the Imperial Theatre in Tokio, was in Germany with her husband, a civil engineer, when the war broke out and the American ambassador was requested to look after her safety.

MRS. PERRY BELMONT HELD AS GERMAN SPY

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Perry Belmont has reached London after a rather exciting trip from Switzerland, where she had been seen by the mistress of the war. From there, where she spent most of August, Mrs. Belmont went to Geneva, and then took passage on a special train which started for Paris, September 1. V. A. Clark of New York, Jules Sander of New York and George V. Clark, a banker, of Hartford, were Mrs. Belmont's co-travelers.

Just after passing the French frontier Mrs. Belmont jokingly said a German expression in the hearing of French soldiers standing beside the carriage. Instantly one addressed her and triumphantly charged her with being a German spy.

Mrs. Belmont protested in French that she was an American, pointing to an American flag which was waving in her hat. The soldier refused to be convinced and declared she was a German.

Only the intervention of a neighboring American passenger, who had been a long time in France, saved her from being taken to a prison camp. He finally left to fetch an officer. On the arrival of the latter, Mrs. Belmont showed her passport, which she had photographed in her hat. This together with other identifying papers, satisfied the officer.

Athlete Andre Wins Decoration

PARIS, Sept. 15.—George Andre, France's foremost all-around athlete, has been decorated with the military medal and promoted to be a sergeant for a great feat of gallantry. Andre, who holds the 100-meter world's record, while fighting in Lorraine with a company, was surrounded by a large German detachment. The athlete, sweeping a bayonet around his head like a fan, slew many of the standard. He gathered around the standard and regained the French lines at his own's cost under a hail of bullets.

Says U. S. Will Ask Turkey to Wait

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sent the following dispatch today: "I am in a position to affirm that the United States will not agree to the suppression of all capitulations in Turkey, but will invite Turkey to postpone definite action until the war is over."

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A better dispatch from Berlin says the German charge d'affaires has notified China that Germany reserves the right to deal with China as it may see fit because of China's alleged breach of neutrality in permitting the landing of foreign troops in Chinese territory. Germany also reserves the right to exact compensation for the losses thereby sustained.

Russian General Executed as Spy

ROTHSCHILD, Sept. 15.—General Baron Alexander Wladimirovitch von Kaulbars, whose activities as a soldier and spy were incriminated by the minister of war in Bulgaria in the early 1900s, commander-in-chief of the Russian military district and commander of the Russian third army corps at Mukden, has been executed, according to a Berlin newspaper, the "Vossische Zeitung," at Odessa as a spy.

PERSONALITIES IN THE GREAT WAR

ISIDORA DUCANEY's home in Newilly is filled each night with refugees.

LORD ROBERT EDWARD INVERKEIR, who had been reported as missing, is safe in a Paris hospital.

SENATOR LODGE and Congressman A. P. Gardner have sailed for America from London.

THE ARCHBISHOP MARIE FERDINAND, mother of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who was assassinated in Bosnia just before the outbreak of the war, has requested to be permitted to nurse War soldiers.

CHARLES CLARK, director of the technical school of Brussels and formerly a resident of Iowa, has arrived in London from Odessa.

LIEUTENANT JACQUES DELCARE, his sword in one hand and a revolver in the other, was charging at the head of his company when a German bullet struck him down. Struggling to his feet, Delcarse again dashed at the enemy, but a second ball pierced him out of action.

"I'm proud of Jacques," he said.

Sidelights of the War

OVERHAUL MERCHANTMAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—People at Sandy Hook today saw what appeared to be the capture of a merchantman by British cruisers. About four miles offshore, the cruisers overhauled the merchantman without firing a shot, and the merchant vessel, after exchanging signals, changed her course and instead of entering New York headed south toward Bermuda.

GRIN IS HOTTING.

PALESTINE, Sept. 15.—The sunset in the northern fields, flattened by rain and the tramp of feet, is mellowing over thousands of acres.

300 LEFT IN REGIMENT.

PALESTINE, Sept. 15.—The Palestine regiment has but five officers and 300 men alive of 1,000 that entered the war.

LIST GIFT FOR SOLDIERS.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In response to inquiries the War Office has listed gifts most acceptable to the men at the front. The list includes pipe, candy and tobacco on prominent terms.

ENRAGED AT BLACK MEN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Henry Tietze, port superintendent of Yonkers, back from Germany, says "I saw the Fourth Bavarian Regiment exchange fire for an hour with a regiment of Negroes. Then the officers told them it was a regiment of black men they were fighting. The Bavarians will wither, look off their coats, rolled up their sleeves, and charged that regiment with the bayonet—swung them back into a disordered rout."

DUEL DECIDES QUESTION.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—To determine which side should surrender, the captain of a German detachment and a captain of a French detachment met near Basle. The French fought a duel, according to a dispatch received here today. The officers stepped off fifteen paces and fired with their revolvers. The German officer was killed. The Frenchman was unhurt. The Germans then surrendered.

FIND SHIP "OK."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—State Department officials who have read a much-discussed interview with William D. Sharp, newly appointed ambassador in France, are at a loss to discover in it anything "indiscreet."

MANAGER CHARLES A. RICH, of the Hollis Street Theatre, who is president of the Boston Association of Theatre Managers, has arrived in Boston after an unexpectedly strenuous vacation in Europe.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL NEIL DOUGLAS FINDLAY, a Deer war hero, has been killed in action.

PRESIDENT POINCARÉ of France has placed two more German flags. Those of the fifty-six and ninety-fourth Prussian Infantry. In the drawing room of his Bordeaux residence.

GOVERNOR WALSH LAUNDS PEACE IDEA

The international peace movement inaugurated by the Hearst newspapers is to be commended, and will be commended, by every true American. I am glad to subscribe to it. I hope it will grow until it becomes irresistible.—GOV. ERNOR DAVID I. WALSH of Massachusetts.

NEW ENGLAND LAUNDS HEARST PEACE PLAN

The movement for peace in Europe is sweeping the United States. Indebted to William Hearst, the plan of a Peace Commission—Mr. Hearst suggested peace. Tilt, Roosevelt and Bryan are being received in the office of Hearst newspapers all over the country in every mail.

Sunday's great Peace Meeting on Boston Common, under the auspices of this newspaper, has given the movement in New England great impetus. No more successful, no more impressive meeting, has ever been held anywhere. This in the testimony of all the 16,000 men and women of Greater Boston who participated in it. At the same time, 15,000 Americans were present at a similar meeting in the Great Greek Theatre on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley. New York's meeting will be held next Sunday in the armory of the Sixty-ninth Regiment.

Expressions favorable to the movement and to Mr. Hearst's plan for a Peace Commission, have been given by representative and distinguished New Englanders. Among others who gave voice to their approval were:

Governor Walsh.
John D. Long, former governor and former Secretary of the Navy.
Mr. Rev. Samuel G. Babcock.

until they bring forth the fruit of the great international Peace Commission.

Bishop Mahony says:
The international peace movement suggested by the Hearst newspapers should receive unqualified endorsement. Now is the time to put forth our best efforts for peace. We never shall have a better opportunity than the present.

Let us make no false move.

HUNDREDS OF RECRUITS ENLIST IN WORLD'S GREAT PEACE ARMY

A flood of letters continue to pour into the AMERICAN office from men and women of Boston and New England anxious to enlist in the World's Peace Army and work for peace, now and hereafter. Additional names of these writers are here given:

James J. Sheehan, Gloucester, Mass.
O. J. Turner, No. 47 Rutland street, Boston.
Mrs. M. L. Bennett, No. 13 Bennett street, Boston.
Anna E. Neill, Worcester.
Edmund Menin, No. 75 Charter street, Boston.
Mrs. Anna Nybo, No. 3 Marlboro place, New Bedford.
Irene E. Plamondon, No. 1588 Purchase street, New Bedford.
Martin McDougall, No. 78 Mill street, Dorchester.

Being sure of what this country should do in co-operation with other neutral nations, let us launch the peace movement to success. The time is ripe. We never shall expect when our country may be asked to mediate with other nations.

Let us hope that time is near. I sincerely believe that an international Peace Commission is a splendid effort in the right direction and it is bound to be effective.

The clergy, as was to have been expected, promise to take an important part in the good work. Two of the leading pastors of Providence today expressed their approbation of the movement.

The Rev. Peter M. McKay, South Boston.
International peace is coming because the war-making and the public are demanding it.

The Rev. M. E. Pease, Plimouth.
European forces struggle blindly in the grip of unknown power without thought of results. Let us all pray for a peace.

'OUR DUTY IS OBVIOUS,' SAYS MAYOR

With half the civilized world at war, our duty as a peace-loving and neutral people is so obvious that to refrain from action would be equivalent to a crime against civilization itself under present-day conditions.—MAYOR CURLEY, on Mr. Hearst's proposal that the United States organize a Peace Commission.

No More U. S. Nurses Needed in France

BOULDEAU, Sept. 16.—The French government has notified the American Red Cross that it will not need any more nurses from the United States. This indicates that the French military hospital corps is well organized, and that the losses of the allies are not greater than officially reported.

Pittsburgh Women Parade for Peace

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 15.—More than 1,000 women marched through the downtown streets in a peace parade. Each carried a peace pennant. A feature of the procession was a division made up of women of foreign birth.

Australian Fleet Cleared the Pacific

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A Reuter dispatch from Melbourne states that immediately upon the declaration of war the Australian fleet searched 11,017 miles of the Pacific Ocean for cruisers and other war vessels of the enemy. All of the enemy's wireless stations were dismantled.

Boston Now Ranks as Fifth Among Ports of World

The Port Directors announce that Boston now ranks fifth among ports of the world—and in the United States. The accepted test is the carrying capacity of all vessels entering the ports. The figures are:

New York, 23,367,103 tons.
London, 16,561,994 tons.
Rotterdam, 12,094,000 tons.
Boston, 11,755,071 tons.
Antwerp, Liverpool, Marseilles and Southampton are next in order.

PEACE EDITOR,
Boston American, Boston.

Please enroll my name on the world-wide committee to bring to a quick conclusion the terrible war now devastating Europe.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

Affirmed bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts.
The Rev. Peter M. McKay, of the Rev. M. E. Pease of Providence.

Livery citizen of New England is invited to join the movement. In another column of the AMERICAN will be found a membership blank. Enroll today in the world-wide movement to bring to a quick conclusion the terrible war which is now devastating Europe. You can do this and still strictly observe the decision of America to remain neutral. This is a movement on behalf of our brothers and sisters, the men and women of ALL the civilized nations.

GOVERNOR WALSH'S LETTER.
The Editor of the Boston AMERICAN today received the following letter from the first citizen of Massachusetts:

Editor AMERICAN:
The international peace movement inaugurated by the Hearst newspapers is to be commended, and will be commended by every true American. I am glad to subscribe to it. I hope it will grow until it becomes irresistible, for we all want peace.

Of course we must remain neutral, and we must be careful to hold the extreme and friendship of all the nations now unhappily at war, but I am convinced that the time will soon be at hand when all of them will be glad to consider the approaches of a Peace Commission from the United States. The idea is a splendid one. Long live and further success to Mr. Hearst and his newspapers may they continue to point the American way along the path of prosperity and peace!

(Signed) DAVID I. WALSH.

Mayor Curley said:
Boston's unreserved approval of the great international peace movement so strongly supported by the Hearst newspapers was evidenced in the wonderfully enthusiastic Peace Meeting held on the Common Sunday afternoon.

Editor the plan suggested by Mr. Hearst for a Peace Commission made up of equal representatives from the United States and all the warring nations, and sincerely trust that he will give this momentous question his most serious consideration.

At war, our duty as a peace-loving and neutral people is so obvious that to refrain from action would be equivalent to a crime against civilization itself under present-day conditions.

Former Governor Long said:
A Peace Commission, made up of representative men, as emphasized by Vice-President Marshall, has my hearty approval. Measures which bring peace would be willingly followed. Such measures will be spread. They should be urged.

Never Questioned

Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure and wholesome. It is made from highly refined, pure, cream of tartar, an ingredient of grapes. Not an atom of unwholesomeness goes into it; not an unwholesome influence comes from it. It perfectly leavens the food, makes it finer in appearance, more delicious to the taste, more healthful.

Its superiority in all the qualities that make the perfect baking powder is never questioned.

Kossuth—Greatest of Hungarians

THIS noble lover of Liberty was to his beloved Hungary what Patrick Henry was to American Independence. Give me Liberty or give me death! meant to Kossuth all that he lived for ninety-two years, and his love and heroic career was devoted solely to secure for Hungary National Independence. For it he suffered imprisonment and exile. For it he worked as few men have ever worked. His fiery soul was expressed in his writing, and his impassioned oratory thundered across the two continents. All the world read and listened to this high-souled Hungarian Patriot. When called our government sent the U. S. Steamer Mississippi to Turkey and brought him to our shores as the guest of the Nation. In 1846 we have millions of Hungarian citizens each one a lover of Personal Liberty. To secure it they sought our shores, and to a man they fought to the death to keep forever alive the spirit and letter of our immortal Declaration of Independence. They made good citizens, and like Kossuth detest prohibitory enactments which make the many suffer for the faults of the few. For centuries Hungarians have as a nation been moderate users of duty, law and light wine. Their votes are always registered against any legislation which proposes to regulate human life by law. They shall NOT at this—thou shalt NOT drink that—to those of brave Hungarian blood is insufferable tyranny. For 57 years Anheuser-Busch have been proud to serve their Hungarian patrons. They have helped to make the sales of their great brand Budweiser exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles. Seven thousand, five hundred people are daily required to keep pace with the public demand for Budweiser.

TAGUE ASKS IF JOHN A. KELHER MEANS TO GO

Neither John A. Kelher nor the voters of the Tenth Congressional District are going to be permitted to forget some of Mr. Kelher's votes as a Congressmen.

Before enthusiastic audiences at three open-air rallies in Charlestown last night, friends of Representative Peter P. Tague discussed Mr. Kelher's congressional record.

"I am amazed," Mr. Tague said, "to find the public so ready to forget the record of this gentleman, at his audacity in appearing before the DEMOCRATS of this district as a candidate for the DEMOCRATIC nomination."

"Only four years ago," Mr. Kelher was reminded by the Democrats of East Boston, Charlestown, and the North and West Ends. He had long been the representative of Democrats in the House at Washington, and had been elected with the vote of the language of the day, they were "out of him and when they voted to elect him they voted to elect him to his home and keep him there."

At the premises of that year, the Democrats, as they called him, nominated William F. Murray and repudiated Mr. Kelher.

"What did Mr. Kelher do?" he was asked. "He walked direct from the polling booth of that decisive day to take out independent nomination papers."

"Properly repudiated by the Democrats of that year," Mr. Kelher was reminded by the Democrats of that year, he was a candidate on election day against the Democrats and was elected to the House of Representatives of the Democracy, the Hon. William F. Murray.

"I pledge myself to abide by the decision of the Democracy of that year on Tuesday next. I declare, upon my honor as a man and a Democrat, my intention to support the Congressional and all the other nominees of the Democracy, party and I will stand where JOHN A. KELHER stands."

FAVORED CANNON RULES.

"The Democrats of the Tenth District have a right to Mr. Kelher's answer to this question, Mr. Kelher has absolutely no right to stand before these Democrats, having in 1910 gone out to fight their Congressmen, Mr. Kelher, but while the light holds out to burn even Mr. Kelher's return, but perhaps he will let us know what he purposes to do on Wednesday, when he is AGAIN rejected by Boston Democrats."

"For it is certain that Mr. Kelher will again be overwhelmingly rejected. I am not deceiving myself. I shall win on Tuesday by at least 2,000 votes, and nobody knows that better than John A. Kelher."

"The man who voted against the Pure Food Bill, and who, September 14, 1900, declared in Frank Hall that he was PROUD OF THAT VOTE, is not going to be nominated this year by Democrats any more than he was that year."

"One of the things that led to Mr. Kelher's undoing was his vote, on March 15, 1909, on the twenty-two alleged Democrats, in favor of the notorious Cannon Rule. Champ Clark charged these twenty-two with being traitors to their party. The Independent and conservative Boston Globe, on March 17, 1909, said: 'Among the Democrats who proved traitors to their party and voted with the Republicans was John A. Kelher of the Ninth Congressional District.'

TAGUE IS GAINING.

Treachery Charge by Peter F. Tague Against Kelher

What did John A. Kelher do four years ago? He walked straight from the Democratic caucuses of 1910 with a dagger in his sleeve to strike at the Democratic party. He walked direct from the polling booth of that decisive day to take out "Independent" nomination papers. Properly repudiated by the Democrats of the district, whom he had betrayed at Washington, Mr. Kelher again turned on them. He was a candidate on Election Day against the honest and honorable nominees of the Democracy, the Hon. William F. Murray. Peter F. Tague, Democratic leader of the House of Representatives and candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Tenth Congressional District.

not called back until he had publicly betrayed the Democracy. He rejected by that party in this district, he went out to defeat the capable and cleverly chosen nominees of the Democracy, who had been nominated by Democrats to take his place.

He had nothing to say, and I shall have nothing to say, against John A. Kelher, the individual. I discuss Mr. Kelher's public record, and the policy which he has followed, as he is deserved to be, by the Democracy.

Former Representative Mr. J. Brophy of East Boston and James J. Sullivan of the North End, who were on the stump with Mr. Tague, reports today that the popularity of this section of the city, which earnestly desired to hold the Murray seat in Congress.

Mr. Tague will be heard tonight at the Democratic mass meetings in the ward room at the corner of Myrtle and Bremen streets, East Boston, and at Day square, Ward 1, East Boston.

Many Flee to Escape Waltham Runaway

Several persons fled to escape injury today when a horse attached to a team of the Democracy of the standing in 1910 gone out to fight their Congressmen, Mr. Kelher, but while the light holds out to burn even Mr. Kelher's return, but perhaps he will let us know what he purposes to do on Wednesday, when he is AGAIN rejected by Boston Democrats."

What Do the Men Say Now to Women?

How Do They Feel About Their Favorite Remark, So Often Heard by Women: "YOU CAN'T FIGHT, AND SO YOU CAN'T VOTE?"

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

THE AMERICAN WOMAN QUESTIONS EUROPE.

War should not make us forget all other things.

It should especially not cause us to forget the women whose patient suffering and care have brought to manhood the millions of men now engaged in fighting each other.

A man murdered in war means a material loss to the nation. To some woman it means infinitely more.

What have the men of Europe and of this country to say now to the women who ask that they be permitted to vote, that they be permitted to have some share in the making of laws and the selection of rulers that DECIDE UPON WAR OR PEACE?

How many times have men said to women, "How can you expect to vote when you cannot go to war and fight like men?"

Are the men proud of that remark now, as they watch civilization change to degradation?

Are they proud of themselves as they see women and children killed, peaceful inhabitants driven from their homes, industry, agriculture and everything else worth while destroyed?

Well might the women say to the men, "You are right. We do not go to war. We do not WANT war. If we were equal with you in the making of laws and in the influencing of lawmakers, THERE WOULD BE NO WAR."

"We suffer when we create the soldier as no man suffers on the battlefield."

"We suffer when we create the child, we suffer in our hearts when our sons are killed, and we suffer with humanity at the sight of the horrible crime against civilization called war."

"We do not go to war. But should we, therefore, have no right to say whether or not war shall come?"

"You who boast of your power as fighters, how many of you are ashamed of this war; how many of you long for peace; how many of you NOW would repeat your insolent, contemptuous disparagement of the woman who does not fight?"

"You do not find us in the front line with a bayonet. But you find us with the dead and with the wounded."

"And you find our dead bodies with the Red Cross on our arms, where we have been shot down doing our duty."

"When you finish killing each other, will you not listen to us?"

"Or will you again say, 'You are our inferiors because you do not fight—you must not vote because you cannot cut throats as we can?'"

Party Faith Is Worth More Than Federal Jobs

The Maine Election Proves It

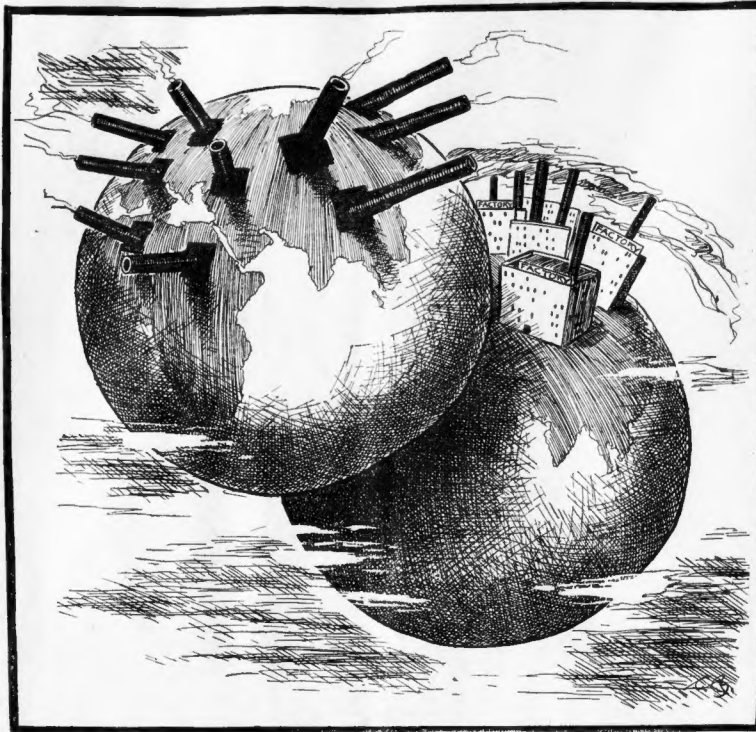

The election returns in the only Congressional district in Maine represented by a Democrat is a warning to Democrats who violated their party faith and honor.

Two years ago Representative Daniel J. McGillicuddy was elected to Congress from the Maine district by a majority of the total vote. Then he did not have the powerful aid of Federal patronage. Then he did not have the prestige of a party in power in the nation. Then he did not have the advantage of his own previous success. YET he carried the district by a MAJORITY over all the other candidates.

On Monday last this same Mr. McGillicuddy, with the prestige of victory, with the aid of the Federal patronage, with the aid of national Democratic speakers, with the support of the President, found himself with a MINORITY of the total vote, barely gaining the election through the division of the opposition.

Mr. McGillicuddy was elected upon a platform which declared in favor of free tolls for our American ships passing through the

Is the Eclipse Passing?

We hope so. The world of civilization and progress has been blotted out by the world of brutality and war, but the light of peace is coming. May it come soon and every American work for it.

Men Who Made America

John Campbell, Pioneer Editor of the Colonial Days, with His "Boston News Letter," Blazed the Path for the Organs of Public Opinion Which Led to Independence

By REV. T. B. GREGORY

TWO HUNDRED AND NINE years ago the 14th of last April appeared the first number of the first newspaper ever published in what is now the United States of America. The name of the paper was the "Boston News Letter," and the name of its editor and proprietor was John Campbell, the father of American Journalism.

A glance at a file of our pioneer newspaper will serve to show that, as compared with present-day newspapers, it was a very small affair, but it was a newspaper, and because it was that it was one of the greatest things on the continent.

Originally printed on a single sheet of paper, foolscap size, Campbell, about 1718, when the News Letter was fourteen years old, enlarged it considerably, in order, as he informed his readers, "to make the news newer and more acceptable." The enterprising editor assures his readers that if they "will continue steady until January next, life permitting, they will be accommodated with all the news of Europe that is needful to be known in these parts."

Mr. Campbell's extraordinary announcement was caused by the fact that he suddenly and unexpectedly found himself face to face with a journalistic competitor in the shape of one William Brimcom, who about this time entered the field with his "Boston Gazette."

The battle between the News Letter and the Gazette was a hot one, but the newcomer at last bit the dust, leaving its older rival in full possession of the field. The News Letter held on until 1776, the year of the British evacuation of Boston, having served the public faithfully for seventy years.

When the News Letter went out of business, in Independence year, Massachusetts had seven newspapers, New Hampshire one, Connecticut three, Rhode Island one, Pennsylvania eight, New York three, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina two each, South Carolina three, and Georgia one—thirty-three in all.

When the Government of the Constitution went into operation, in 1789, there were printed each week in the entire United States 74,432 copies of newspapers—a very insignificant circulation compared with that of today, but enough to show that the great engine of publicity was working, and that the mighty thing—public opinion—had at last found a means of expressing itself.

And as the father of American Journalism Campbell stands by, impressing right among the "Men Who Made America," of all the countries of the earth ours should think most highly of the press, for it was the press that made the United States a reality.

But for the famous series of newspaper articles, later on published in book form and known to us as the "Federalist," the chances are that the great Constitution would never have been ratified by the requisite number of States, and hence would never have materialized in the shape of the stupendous fact known as the "United States of America."

To say nothing of the other colonies, just recall the situation as it was in the Empire State. That State had three delegates in the Philadelphia Convention—Hamilton, Lansing and Yates—and when the last-mentioned gentlemen felt that sentiment in the convention was drifting toward the adoption of the Constitution they shook the dust of the Quaker City from the soles of their feet and hot-footed it for home, swearing by all the grizzled gods that they would have nothing to do with the arrangement that threatened to swallow up the Empire State.

Upon reaching New York they rushed into print under the names of "Cato" and "Brutus" and thundered with all their might against the Constitution, warning the people against having anything to do with the "infatuated document."

Then it was that Hamilton, Madison and Jay, the "Big Three," realizing the power of the press, rushed into print to checkmate Yates, Lansing and their class all over the country. On the 25th of October, 1787, there appeared in the New York Independent Journal an article signed "Publius." It was Hamilton's first shot—the opening paper in the immortal series known as the "Federalist."

The chances are as a thousand to one that had that series of newspaper articles not appeared the blessed work of the men who met and deliberated at Philadelphia would have been done in vain, and the new constitution in the political heavens might not have put in its appearance for centuries to come.

All honor, then, to the name of John Campbell, the pioneer newspaper man of the United States, his memory deserving to live forever.

other country passing through that canal, which means, of course, warships as well as ships of commerce.

Now Mr. McGillicuddy and other pledge-breakers like Congressman Thomas C. Thacher of the Massachusetts Cape District ought to examine the returns from the State of Maine. A majority two years ago obtained under every disadvantage was turned into a minority today in spite of every advantage.

In a great murder trial Daniel Webster once said that the man on trial had "weighed so many pieces of silver against so many ounces of blood." Those Democrats who, under seductions of the patronage-powerful but mistaken President, had weighed so many Federal jobs against so much of the national interest and of the party honor, may now consider which, in their personal fortunes, weighs the most.

We commend this question to the careful consideration of the Cape Cod Congressional District in Massachusetts which Mr. Thomas C. Thacher MISREPRESENTED in this paramount matter.

Woman Against Woman

Why the Sex Treats Its Sisters with Contumely Though It Loves Them at Heart.

By DOROTHY DIX

ONE of the most curious things in the world is the latent antagonism that women show toward members of their own sex.

Of course, this is a matter of habit and tradition, breeding the bone sort of feeling that is the result of woman's age-long struggle for a husband. Her bread and butter, her position in society, her interest in life depended upon her capturing some male who would furnish her with a home, and throw the glimmer of his name about her, and so every woman's hand was against every other woman's, and she regarded every other woman who crossed her path with jealousy and suspicion.

Now that woman has become self-supporting, and marriage has become less alluring to her fancy than a career, she still cannot rid herself of this prejudice against her sex handed down to her in her very blood from her foremothers. It has become what Darwin calls an acquired hereditary tendency.

We see this distrust and dislike of their own sex exhibited by women in a thousand ways. No woman criminal would be willing to be tried by a jury of other women. She knows that a woman jury can, the torturing jealousy, the frantic fear of losing what she loved, the desperate sense of her powerlessness to hold a man who was tired of her, that may at last have driven her to commit murder.

But she also knows the old sex-antagonism, that nine times out of ten will make a woman take a man's part against another woman, and condone a man's offenses at the expense of a woman, and assume that whatever he did that was wrong he was beguiled into doing by the woman.

Where the Trouble Is

Women do not like to work for other women, and from the factory in the factory to the Housekeeper, the woman who must manage other women has a hard time of it. This is not because the woman employer is any more difficult to get along with, or any more of a slave driver than a man is, but because women resent being bossed by other women. They are accustomed to yielding obedience to men. They are used to having men criticize them, and to taking meekly men's reproofs, but when it comes to having a sister woman call them down, and hold them up to their work, they simply can't stand for it. If a woman and a daughter go to a restaurant where the serving is done by waitresses, it is at once amusing and aggravating to see the difference in the way they are treated. Two or three waitresses will rush forward to serve the man, they will flutter about his chair seeing that he has every attention possible to give him, and if there are any special tidbits that it is in their power to give him, he will get them.

But the woman patrons will be left to settle herself as best she can, and wait the pleasure of some haughty damsel to condescend to serve her, and when her food is brought her it will be banged down on the table in any old way.

The explanation of this used to be that men tipped and women didn't, but the woman who goes to restaurants nowadays no more withholds her gratuity than does the man, and so the explanation of this phenomenon goes back to woman's inherited habit of serving man, and feeling it an honor to minister to him.

More Man to the Fore.

And, curiously enough, this woman-against-woman feeling finds its most pronounced expression in the family where the mother never treats her daughter as she does her sons. Of course mothers will deny this; but it is true, nevertheless. Every woman is anxious to get her daughters married and off her hands, but it is the bitterness of death to her for her sons to marry. At every wedding you will see the bride's mother tread on smiles and the bridegroom's mother in tears.

Where both sons and daughters go out to work, the mother expects the girls to turn in their wages toward the family support, and she accepts their earnings without gratitude; but if her son contributes anything to the family exchequer she can never sufficiently praise his generosity. She also expects the girls, after their day's work is over, to help at home with the housework, but the warmest seat by the fire, the easiest chair, the choicest food, is reserved for her darling boy when he comes home from his labor.

The queer part of this woman-against-woman antagonism is that it has no base in fact. Woman is always and invariably woman's best friend. It is to a sister woman's warm hand that she turns in her hour of need.

New Things Every Woman Ought to Know

You will find a page of them in next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN.

Dr. William S. Gonthell tells you of mistaken ideas about your skin. It is a lesson in practical hygiene and you will find what he says a help to beauty.

Mr. Frank Learned, who is recognized as an authority on etiquette, tells you of the rules regarding introductions.

May Irwin, who is as good a cook as she is an actress, tells you six ways to make prunes delicious.

And "then some," all in next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN.
